Listening to Parents' Advice

It has always been a big problem for a teenager to decide, whether to listen to their parents in this or that situation. In most cases, teens feel mature enough to make decisions. At the same time, the reflective or contradicting behavior might have different consequences from that expected by the teenager. I am strongly convinced that teenagers should listen to their parents or at least consider mother or father's opinion.

The first argument of why we should listen to our parents is that they are older and more experienced than we are. It is not only about teenagers. Even adults should consider their parents' thought and ideas and ask for their advice. Our parents might have had identical situations in their life. They know better how to behave in order to succeed.

The second reason why we should consider our parents' advice is that they wish us the best. Mothers and fathers always want their children to be successful, prosperous, and happy, which reflects in their suggestions, advice, and directions. Unlike some of our acquaintances, parents always worry and take care of us no matter what. Consequently, our parents are those people you can always trust to and rely on.

Finally, our parents love us no matter what. Moreover, they know us even better than we know ourselves. They are wise and are always ready to share their wisdom and experience with their beloved children. All we have to do is to ask for their help or a piece of advice.

To conclude, we should never be afraid or ashamed of listening to our parents and following their advice and directions. Who else but our mothers and fathers takes care of us that much? Do not hesitate and turn to assistance to your parents.
